Extension of Existing Interim Orders Granting Protection under the Semiconductor Chip Protection Act of 1984 for Nationals, Domiciliaries and Sovereign Authorities of Certain Countries to Which Interim Protection Has Been Extended

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.

Action: Notice.

Summary: Pursuant to section 914 of the Semiconductor Chip Protection Act of 1984 (SCPA), 17 U.S.C. 914, and the guidelines issued by the Patent and Trademark Office, 49 FR 44517 (Nov. 7, 1984), the Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks has determined that existing interim orders under which protection under the SCPA is made available to foreign mask work owners should be extended in duration for nationals, domiciliaries and sovereign authorities of Japan, Sweden, Australia, the Member States of the European Community, Canada, Switzerland, Finland, and Austria under section 914 of the SCPA.

Effective Date: This order is effective on June 30, 1994.

Termination Date: This order will terminate on July 1, 1995.

Addresses: Address correspondence to Michael S. Keplinger, Office of Legislative and International Affairs, United States Patent and Trademark Office, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231.

For Further Information Contact: Michael S. Keplinger, Office of Legislative and International Affairs, United States Patent and Trademark Office, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231, phone (703) 305-9300.

Supplementary Information: When Congress enacted the Semiconductor Chip Protection Act of 1984 (SCPA), it established an entirely new category of intellectual property that did not fall under the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property, the Universal Copyright Convention or the Berne Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works. The Congress created a balanced intellectual property regime for the protection of layout-designs of semiconductor chips that provided a level of protection that was satisfactory to meet the needs of the U.S. public and the domestic semiconductor chip industry. At the same time, Congress was also aware of the need of U.S. chip producers for protection in foreign markets, of the need of foreign chip producers for protection here in the United States and that there was no international treaty for the protection of chips. Faced with this dilemma, Congress created an innovative mechanism to encourage the rapid building of a worldwide consensus on an appropriate regime of intellectual property protection for chip layout-designs that would be compatible with U.S. law and would encourage the development of the international market for semiconductor chip products. To achieve these goals, Congress established a two-tiered system for protecting foreign works in the United States. Section 914 of the SCPA permits the Secretary of Commerce to extend interim access to protection under the SCPA for foreign chip creators if certain criteria are met, and section 902 permits the President to proclaim indefinite access to protection under the SCPA for foreign creators from countries that protect U.S. works. This system has laid the groundwork for establishing a technology-specific, carefully tailored and balanced regime of mask work protection in other chip-producing countries.

Section 902 of the SCPA sets out the criteria under which foreign works are eligible for protection in the United States. Section 902(a)(1) provides generally that a mask work fixed in a semiconductor chip product, by or under the authority of the owner of the mask work, may be protected under the SCPA if certain criteria are met.

The first of these is that when registration is sought or the mask work is first commercially exploited anywhere in the world, the owner of the mask work is 1) a U.S. national or domiciliary, 2) a national, domiciliary or authority of a foreign country that belongs to a treaty to which the United States also belongs that protects mask works, or 3) a stateless person regardless of where that person may be domiciled. Protection is also available if the mask work is first commercially exploited in the United States, or when the mask work comes within the scope of a Presidential proclamation issued under the SCPA.

The SCPA sets out the statutory criteria against which foreign laws are to be evaluated before issuing a Presidential proclamation. It provides substantially that when the President concludes that a foreign country grants U.S. mask work owners protection substantially the same protection that it grants its own nationals and domiciliaries, or on substantially the same basis as under the SCPA, the President may extend protection under this chapter to mask works of owners who are nationals, domiciliaries, or authorities of that country, or to mask works which are first commercially exploited in that country.

In 1987 the Chairman of the then House Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice noted that the transition provisions in section 914 of the SCPA were "intended to encourage the rapid development of a new worldwide regime for the protection of semiconductor chips." 133 Cong. Rec. E1283 (daily ed. April 6, 1987). These transitional provisions empowered the Executive to use the issuance of interim protection orders under section 914 of the SCPA as a means to encourage other nations to move speedily to establish substantially similar systems of protection. These provisions originally were set to expire three years after the date of the enactment of the SCPA, November 7, 1987.

The Congress has twice extended the authority to issue interim orders in the belief that this process is promoting the protection of U.S. mask works abroad and that the speedy enactment of laws in other countries that are patterned after U.S. law is progress. H.R. Rep. 100-388, 100th Cong., 1st Sess. (1987). Under the SCPA, the Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks has been delegated the tasks of determining when and under what conditions foreign mask works will be eligible for interim protection. To become eligible, a foreign government must demonstrate that it is making good faith efforts toward establishing a regime of protection in its territory that is substantially similar to that which is provided in the United States under the SCPA.

The countries to which interim protection has been extended (the Member States of the European Community, Australia, Austria, Canada, Finland, Japan, Sweden, and Switzerland) cooperated with the United States to try to establish a treaty for the adequate and effective protection of mask works in the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO). A Diplomatic Conference for the negotiation of a Treaty on the Protection of the Layout-Designs of Integrated Circuits (IPIC Treaty) was held in Washington during the month of May 1989. The IPIC Treaty adopted at the conclusion of the Conference did not meet the needs of either Japan or the United States. No developed country has thus far signed the Treaty, and it is yet to come into force.

Subsequent to the Diplomatic Conference, the United States has continued to work to conclude a multilateral agreement for the adequate and effective protection of semiconductor integrated circuit layout-designs. The Agreement on the Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property (TRIPs) that was adopted on December 15, 1993, in the Uruguay Round of Trade negotiations in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade contains a section that will require such protection. It builds upon the substantive provisions of the IPIC Treaty and adds the missing features deemed necessary to provide an adequate level of protection. It permits compulsory licensing of semiconductor technology only for public non-commercial uses or to remedy an adjudicated antitrust violation, it requires innocent infringers to pay reasonable royalties after notice, and it provides that products that include infringing chips fall within its scope of protection. Thus the TRIPs Agreement provides the level of protection in an internationally recognized text that is fully consistent with the U.S. SCPA and meets, or exceeds, the levels of protection provided in other countries' chip protection laws. The countries to which interim protection has been extended all worked closely with the United States to achieve this goal. However, the TRIPs Agreement has not yet been implemented by the United States, and the presently issued interim orders will expire on July 1, 1994, before the implementation of the TRIPs Agreement.

The combination of the standards set out in section 902 and the process established to implement section 914 clearly appear to have satisfied the Congressional intent behind this unprecedented process. In 1984, only the United States had specific legislation in place for the protection of chips, while today such protection is in place in all of the countries to which interim protection has been extended. U.S. semiconductor chip layout-designs enjoy protection in all of those countries today. In some, the protection is enjoyed on the basis of national treatment and in some on the basis of reciprocity.

Since the interim orders were last extended, no complaints about the adequacy of the mask work protection laws in any of the countries to which interim protection has been extended have been received. Should such complaints arise in the future, they can be taken into account in determining whether a particular interim order should be rescinded prior to its scheduled termination.

Because of this favorable environment, and in order to ensure the continuing protection of U.S. layout-designs in foreign markets, I have determined that extending the present interim orders will provide the time needed for the final implementation of the TRIPs Agreement which will provide the basis for an adequate and effective multinational system for the protection for semiconductor mask works. In light of this, I am extending the interim orders for Japan, Sweden, Australia, the Member States of the European Community, Canada, Switzerland, Finland and Austria under Section 914 of the SCPA. These orders will expire on July 1, 1995.

Response Requested to 1993 Patent Examiner's Action Survey

As part of the continuing quality reinforcement efforts of the Patent and Trademark Office, the Office has sent out a Patent Action Survey For with each Patent Examiner's Office action mailed during a period of several weeks during December, 1993-January, 1994. If you have received one or more of these forms, please complete each one, no later than the time of response to the Office action being surveyed.

The survey is intended to determine whether Office actions are perceived to be clear and complete on certain specific and important items related to patent examining practices and procedures. The results of the survey will be used in the development of Office training programs. The survey is a follow-up to the Patent Action Surveys conducted in 1991 and 1992. Where training is provided to address identified deficiencies in performance, follow-up surveys are intended to be conducted in the future to determine whether the training was effective enough to improve performance in the measured areas.

The Survey Form is brief and easy to complete and does not permit identification of the respondent or of the particular application involved. The Survey Form may be completed at the time of response to the Office Action. It is possible that a practitioner may receive many Office Actions containing a Survey Form during the survey period. To have results that are meaningful, the Office needs a high response rate. Therefore, it is important that patent practitioners complete each survey form no later than the time of response to the Office action being surveyed. To assure that this form is completed and mailed back to the address indicated on the Survey Form, it would be desirable for patent practitioners to have their office managers/docketing personnel take appropriate steps to keep the form and Office action together for the practitioner's benefit.

Your cooperation in completing the Survey Form is appreciated.

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents and Trademarks
Available for Public Use in Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs), receive patent and trademark information in various formats from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Many PTDLs have on file all full-text patents issued since 1790, trademarks published since 1872, and select collections of foreign patents. All PTDLs have both the patent and trademark sections of the Official Gazette of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. The full-text utility and design patents are distributed numerically on 16 mm microfilm, and plant patents on color microfiche. Patent and trademark search systems on CD-ROM (Compact Disc-Read Only) format are available at all PTDLs to increase utilization of and enhance access to the information found in patents and trademarks. It is through the CD-ROM systems that preliminary patent and trademark searches can be conducted through the numerically arranged collections.

All information is available for use by the public free of charge.

In addition, each PTDL offers reference publications which outline and provide access to the patent and trademark classification systems, as well as other documents and publications which supplement the basic search tools. PTDLs provide technical staff assistance in using all materials. Facilities for making paper copies of patent and trademark information are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent and trademark collections among the PTDLs, and their hours of service to the public vary, anyone contemplating use of these collections at a particular library is urged to contact that library in advance about its collections, services, and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. CL." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

Revision of Patent Cooperation Treaty Provisions

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Notice of proposed rulemaking
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (Office) proposes to amend the rules of practice relating to applications filed under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) in accordance with revised regulations under the PCT. The proposed changes will result in a procedure whereby international applications improperly filed in the United States Receiving Office (RO/US) will, for a fee, be forwarded for processing by the International Bureau as Receiving Office.
Dates: Written comments must be submitted on or before Aug. 29, 1994.
Addresses: Address written comments to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, Attention: Charles Pearson, Crystal Park II, Room 919, or by Fax to (703) 308-6459. No oral hearing will be held.
For Further Information Contact: Charles Pearson by telephone at (703) 308-6515or by mail marked to his attention and addressed as above.
Supplementary Information: These proposed rule changes will improve filing and processing procedures for applicants in the filing of international applications.

On September 20 to 29, 1993, representatives of the patent offices of the member countries, in a series of meetings held in Geneva, Switzerland, agreed upon several changes to the PCT regulations which are designed to make the PCT more user-friendly. One of the significant changes to the PCT regulations was the addition of a new section (PCT Rule 19.4) which provides for transmittal of an international application to the International Bureau, acting in its capacity as Receiving Office, in certain instances. Several other changes were agreed upon including modifications to certain existing regulations. Some of these adopted changes require corresponding changes in Title 37, CFR.

Under the regulations currently in effect, an applicant is required, on filing the international application in the United States, to specify an applicant who is a resident or national of the United States.

The practice under the revised PCT regulations permits an international application filed with the United States Receiving Office to be forwarded to the International Bureau for processing in its capacity as a receiving office if the international application has an applicant who is a resident or national of a PCT Contracting State or has no residence or nationality indicated, but does not have an applicant who is indicated as being a U.S. resident or national. The Receiving Office of the International Bureau will consider the international application to be received as of the date accorded by the United States Receiving Office. This practice will avoid the loss of a filing date in those instances where the United States Receiving Office is not competent to act, but where the international application is filed by an applicant who is a national or resident of a PCT Contracting State. Where questions arise regarding residence or nationality, e.g., where residence and nationality are not clearly set forth, the application will be forwarded to the International Bureau as Receiving Office. If all of the applicants are indicated to be residents and nationals of non-PCT Contracting States, PCT Rule 19.4 does not apply and the application is denied an international filing date.

Discussion of Specific Rules

Section 1.412 (c)(6), if added as proposed, would reflect that the United States Receiving Office, where it is not a competent Receiving Office under PCT Rule 19.1 or 19.2, could transmit the international application to the International Bureau for processing in its capacity as a Receiving Office.

Section 1.421(a), if amended as proposed, would clarify that applications filed by applicants who are not residents or nationals of the United States, but who are residents or nationals of a PCT Contracting state or who indicate no residence or nationality, will, upon timely payment of the proper fee, have their application forwarded to the International Bureau for processing in its capacity as a Receiving Office.

Section 1.445(a)(5), if added as proposed, would establish a fee equivalent to the transmittal fee in paragraph (a)(1) of this section for transmittal of an international application to the International Bureau for processing in its capacity as a Receiving Office.

Section 10.9, if amended as proposed, would add a new provision to be consistent with the change to PCT Rule 90.1, clarifying that an attorney or agent having the right to act before the International Bureau when acting as Receiving Office may represent the applicant before the U.S. International Searching Authority or the U.S. International Preliminary Examining Authority. An individual who has the right to practice before the International Bureau when acting as Receiving Office, and who is not registered under section 10.6, may not prosecute patent applications in the national stage in the Office.

Other Considerations:

The proposed rule changes are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Executive Order 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. This proposed rule has been determined to be not significant for the purposes of E.O. 12866.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the proposed rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)), because the proposed rules would affect only a small number of international applications and would provide more streamlined and simplified procedures for filing and prosecuting international applications under the PCT.

The Patent and Trademark Office has also determined that this notice has no federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

These rule changes will not impose any additional burden under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. The paperwork burden imposed by adherence to the PCT is currently approved by the Office of Management and Budget under control number 0651-0021.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority granted to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks by 35 U.S.C. 6, the Patent and Trademark Office proposes to amend Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations as set forth below.

Errata

"All reference to Patent No. 5,324,899 to Nicholas J. Stroud, et. al., of Pennsylvania for 'COMBINED INTERRUPTER-DISCONNECT SWITCH BLADE FOR HIGH VOLTAGE SWITCH' appearing in the Official Gazette of June 28, 1994 should be deleted since no patent was granted."

Response Requested to 1993 Patent Examiner's Action Survey

As part of the continuing quality reinforcement efforts of the Patent and Trademark Office, the Office has sent out a Patent Action Survey For with each Patent Examiner's Office action mailed during a period of several weeks during December, 1993-January, 1994. If you have received one or more of these forms, please complete each one, no later than the time of response to the Office action being surveyed.

The survey is intended to determine whether Office actions are perceived to be clear and complete on certain specific and important items related to patent examining practices and procedures. The results of the survey will be used in the development of Office training programs. The survey is a follow-up to the Patent Action Surveys conducted in 1991 and 1992. Where training is provided to address identified deficiencies in performance, follow-up surveys are intended to be conducted in the future to determine whether the training was effective enough to improve performance in the measured areas.

The Survey Form is brief and easy to complete and does not permit identification of the respondent or of the particular application involved. The Survey Form may be completed at the time of response to the Office Action. It is possible that a practitioner may receive many Office Actions containing a Survey Form during the survey period. To have results that are meaningful, the Office needs a high response rate. Therefore, it is important that patent practitioners complete each survey form no later than the time of response to the Office action being surveyed. To assure that this form is completed and mailed back to the address indicated on the Survey Form, it would be desirable for patent practitioners to have their office managers/docketing personnel take appropriate steps to keep the form and Office action together for the practitioner's benefit.

Your cooperation in completing the Survey Form is appreciated.

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents and Trademarks Available for Public Use in Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs), receive patent and trademark information in various formats from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Many PTDLs have on file all full-text patents issued since 1790, trademarks published since 1872, and select collections of foreign patents. All PTDLs have both the patent and trademark sections of the Official Gazette of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. The full-text utility and design patents are distributed numerically on 16 mm microfilm, and plant patents on color microfiche. Patent and trademark search systems on CD-ROM (Compact Disc-Read Only) format are available at all PTDLs to increase utilization of and enhance access to the information found in patents and trademarks. It is through the CD-ROM systems that preliminary patent and trademark searches can be conducted through the numerically arranged collections.

All information is available for use by the public free of charge.

In addition, each PTDL offers reference publications which outline and provide access to the patent and trademark classification systems, as well as other documents and publications which supplement the basic search tools. PTDLs provide technical staff assistance in using all materials. Facilities for making paper copies of patent and trademark information are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent and trademark collections among the PTDLs, and their hours of service to the public vary, anyone contemplating use of these collections at a particular library is urged to contact that library in advance about its collections, services, and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
